DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the ground conductor is a printed circuit board ground plane in claim 7 must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-6 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sekine et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,903,822).

Regarding claim 1, Sekine et al. teaches in figures 68 A-B a wireless terminal comprising a ground conductor [102] and a plurality of antenna feeds [103, 103'], wherein each antenna feed [103, 103'] is coupled directly to the ground conductor [102], and wherein each side of the ground conductor [102] has a surface area greater than the surface area of each of the plurality of antenna feeds [103, 103'].

Regarding claim 2, Sekine et al. teaches in figures 68 A-B the terminal characterized in that each antenna feed [103, 103'] is coupled to the ground conductor [102] via a capacitor (See FIG. 68B).

Regarding claim 3, Sekine et al. teaches in figures 68 A-B the terminal characterized in that the capacitor is a parallel plate capacitor formed by a conducting plate [103, 103'] and a portion of the ground conductor [102].

Regarding claim 4, Sekine et al. teaches in figures 68 A-B the terminal characterized in that a slot [101] is provided in the ground conductor [102].

Regarding claim 5, Sekine et al. teaches in figures 68 A-B the terminal characterized in that the slot [101] is parallel to the major axis of the terminal.

Regarding claim 6, Sekine et al. teaches in figures 68 A-B the terminal characterized in that the ground conductor [102] is a handset case.

Regarding claim 8, Sekine et al. teaches in figures 68 A-BB the terminal characterized in that a matching network (i.e. $50\ \Omega$) provides for each antenna feed [103, 103'].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sekine et al. (Cited above) in view of Zekman (U.S. Patent No. 4,876,552).

Sekine et al. teaches every feature of the claimed invention except for the ground conductor is a printed circuit board ground plane.

Zekman teaches in figure 5 the ground conductor [501] is a printed circuit board ground plane.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to substitute the ground conductor as shown in Sekine et al. by using the printed circuit board ground plane as taught by Zekman in order to each resonator is a microstrip conductor forming a transmission line with its respective conductive surface portion (See Abstract).

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
